Born in Calgary, Alberta, and being raised in an Asian household surrounded by music played from a karaoke machine, I.Con Twins grew a natural passion for music. As strong advocates for education, the duo graduated from the University of Calgary with Bachelor degrees in Science and a minor in Business.

As life progressed, the practicality parts of life overshadowed their passion and drive for music. In 2016, the duo made the difficult decision to sacrifice their 6-figures soaring banking careers in Calgary and moved to Hong Kong to cultivate their passion for music. This gave rise to I.Con Twins!

Since then, I.Con Twins have been sweeping through the Hong Kong music scene and have grown a reputation for their belting notes and strong vibrato. Their hard work has led them to making to Top 30 on The Voice of China Hong Kong, performing at MGM Resorts International and performing with Hong Kong's live orchestra at Queen Elizabeth Stadium.

I.Con Twins wrote "Setting Fires" to tell their transformational story from being passionless 9 to 5ers to following their passion as singer-songwriters and performing artists. They hope that when an audience listens to their song, "Setting Fires," it will spark something in them to pull that burning passion out of them to take the leap, make a change and set fires to their lives.

Now, while travelling between Canada and Hong Kong, I.Con Twins continues to hone their craft, share their message and evolve as performing artists.
